Commencement Exercises Held At Grenada Hi School

Great Sermon By Dr. T. K. Young, at Idlewild Presbyterian Church, Memphis

The Commencement Sermon preached by Dr. T. K. Young of the Idlewild Presbyterian Church of Memphis, in the high school auditorium on Sunday night was a masterpiece. Using as his text Matthew the 12th Chapter and 12th Verse, "How much then is a man better than a sheep?" the distinguished Doctor delivered a sermon that has seldom been surpassed, if ever, in Grenada High School Commencements. Many who were not part of the large congregation heard Dr. Young over their radios. The living of balanced lives was the first point of emphasis in this great sermon—to avoid lop-sided and inefficient living by the development of mental and spiritual lives with the physical. If one develops only the physical, he is no better than a sheep. With concrete illustrations and beautiful language, he showed the necessity of a balance between work and play, between thinking and acting, between present and future issues of conduct. He placed stress upon work, showing that one is no better than a sheep if there is no joy in his work and if there is no growth in character and usefulness. His contrast between material, spiritual and sentimental values was beautiful.

This sermon was a suggestion to favorable comment on Grenada streets Monday. One of our scholarly citizens made the comment that it was the longest sermon he ever heard without a word out of place.

On Sunday night very beautiful music was rendered by a well-trained choir of high school boys and girls.

On Tuesday evening a very beautiful musical and expression program was given by Miss Black and Mrs. Hathorn. The theme was "Sailing the Seven Seas." The stage was made to represent a ship and the numerous music and expression pupils were costumed to represent the various characters to be found on a ship—sailors, captains, passengers, Japanese, Chinese, tulips and windmills from Holland represented in song and dance, Italian, with Italian music and costumes—all in all a most beautiful program.

On Thursday the Junior High School Promotion Exercises were given at 2:30 p. m. in the High School auditorium. The theme of this program was "The Graduates Reward." Here appeared the Queen of Education, emphasized by Louise Arent; Pages, Monty Daise and Will Horton; Dilligence, represented by Leon Province; Determination, Benton Keeton; Knowledge-James Thomas; Six Subjects, Floyd Theisman, Dorothy Talker, Effie Mae Frasier, Tommie McCulla, Ann Odum and Frances Herring; and the Graduate, Ann Duncan.

At 5:00 o'clock on Thursday on the High School campus the Senior Class Day Exercises were given to an enthusiastic audience.

On Friday night at 8:00 o'clock, the climax of the week will be the graduating exercises in the auditorium.

Vacation May Be An Asset Rather Than a Liability

The Purpose of a Vacation Is Change, Stimulation, Rest—Not Violent Exercise

With the advent of the vacation season, Dr. Felix J. Underwood, State Health Officer, calls attention to the ways and means whereby a vacation may be an asset rather than a liability.

"All too often," Doctor Underwood says, "the vacationist returns home in much worse shape than when he left. The purpose of a vacation is change, stimulation, and rest—not violent exercise." Reviewing a few measures to insure a good vacation, Doctor Underwood named moderation as the most important single practice. "Discretion should be used in exercise, eating, drinking and exposure to sunlight," Doctor Underwood stated. "Even though it is vacation season, Dame Nature is on the job. She constantly exacts her penalty for excesses."

Cited were the thousands of sedentary workers who would soon be on vacation—people who spend their days in an office, with a trip to the garage, a sprint to catch the bus, or a saunter to the corner drug store constituting their daily doze. "These people should not try to do enough golfing, swimming, or tennis playing in a few short days to compensate for the next 365," Doctor Underwood continued. "They must remember that Olympic stars are made—not born—and that the making is a day-in-day-out process involving a period of months and years."

Care regarding the cleanliness of food and water partaken on vacation was also urged by the health officer. "Typhoid fever is often called 'vacation typhoid' he said, "because it is frequently contracted by the use of contaminated milk, water, and food while traveling. Only Pasteurized milk should be used and no water from a doubtful source. Few creeks, springs, rivers, or bodies of water of any kind are safe from sewage contamination of nearby cities. As an added measure of protection against typhoid fever, vacationists should be immunized before leaving home."

"Another precaution which cannot be urged too strongly for travelers is highway safety," Doctor Underwood continued. "To date an encouraging decline this year in United States automobile fatalities of 16 per cent per mile of travel indicates that safety education is beginning to stick. However, if the figures are to continue downward, there must be concerted effort toward safe driving during the summer when the whole world apparently is on wheels."

GROVER CLEVELAND

(By W. E. Boushe)

It is indeed with satisfaction a Democrat, especially a Southern Democrat, views the exalted place held by Democrats in the annals of our country. With the exception of Abraham Lincoln, no Republican President deserves much mention. The good times under them being carried by unfair practices which were carried so far as to be responsible for our condition or the condition of the South today. I omit the name of Theodore Roosevelt from the Republicans great, he in reality being a real Democrat. Some might be disposed to mention Calvin Coolidge but he only rode high on the wave of condition and probably saw the handwriting on the wall which caused his memorable statement, "I do not choose to run." Reflecting as did Louis of France before the Revolution, "After me the Deluge." Of the Democrats great, we hear on every hand mention of the names of Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, and Grover Cleveland. I do not include Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt, because time has much to answer as to the place of both these men in the nation's history. There are these "not a few" in speaking of these two, to use a slang expression, "had their chance and muffed it." Wilson in the World War and the chaos and confusion caused by it, and Roosevelt by his vacillatory policy in meeting the labor situation. Wilson was an individualist and dreamer. Roosevelt can hardly be called a Democrat but rather a New Dealer. I saw a few days ago in Gallups poll, a list of great Presidents, and in almost every instance Grover Cleveland was one of the four leading. Grover Cleveland holds a lofty picture in my memory, being the first president I distinctly remember, since the Civil War. There was great rejoicing in the South as this section of the South had been reduced to the status of a colony following the war, a condition from which we have not entirely emerged today. The candidate opposing Cleveland was James G. Blaine, of Maine. The battle cry of the Republicans against Cleveland was "Rum, and Rebellion," meaning Cleveland would favor Catholics, whiskey and the Southern people. Cleveland was elected.

The South immediately came in to a position of political importance. Cleveland put Southern men in his Cabinet and on the Supreme bench. Carlisle and L. Q. C. Lamar and others, but the golden horn of prosperity looked for and longed for did not come. The evils of the Republican party, the corruption and graft engendered thereby, could not be immediately gotten rid of. The serious labor troubles began under Rutherford B. Hays, reached their height at the beginning of Cleveland's term, but he dealt with them with a firm hand. The leading labor organization then styled themselves "The Knights of Labor." There were good men in the ranks but many anarchists as well. On one occasion they threw a bomb into a meeting in Chicago, killing and wounding many. Eight were arrested, four of which were hung, the last receiving life sentences. One committed suicide.

Later came the Great Pullman car strike at Chicago. Gov. Altgeld of Illinois was a weakling, such as Gov. Murphy of Michigan, of today, and refused to call out the troops to prevent the lawlessness and violence which had become so great. The trains had ceased to run. Cleveland sent Federal troops to the scene, arrested many of the most vicious, placing the leader Eugene V. Debs behind the Federal bars. Cleveland would never have countenanced the Detroit sit-down strike. Cleveland was also firm in foreign policy, calling the bluff of the British lion in the Venezuela question, winning the admiration and respect of all the world. However as I have said, he could not perform miracles. The Republican party which had had all the patronage and which held the country's purse strings hampered him at every turn, spending many millions to defeat him. He was succeeded by Benjamin Harrison, a reactionary Republican but under him matters went from bad to worse. Once more people signed for the better times under Cleveland, and at the end of Harrison's first term Cleveland was again nominated by Democrats. There was great enthusiasm. Torchlight processions were held over the country, picnics and political gatherings everywhere. Cleveland was once again elected, being the only president ever to be re-elected after being defeated. Again the financial wizards applied the brakes. Cotton went to $1 one day on the streets of Grenada, it could not be sold at all. Cleveland was powerless as Congress was Republican. At this period William Jennings Bryan and free silver began to loom on the horizon, causing another rift in the Democratic ranks, not overcome until Wilson's election. Cleveland was a strong man who never feared right in favor of public sentiment. He was the son of a Presbyterian preacher, served as Mayor of New York City and married while in the White House. An effort was made to have him nominated a third time for president. He died president of Princeton University. Wilson was also president of this university. The esteem in which Cleveland was held may be judged by the number of people we have today named Grover.

CHILD HEALTH DAY OBSERVANCE

Never before has Grenada county manifested such interest in Child welfare as that exhibited on their third observance of Child Health Day, May 5th.

The day's program opened with a parade of more than four hundred school children from the primary to junior high grades, inclusive, led by Grenada's superior band. Their majesties, King Kiri, only son of Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Arent, and Queen Margaret, older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Green, rode on a beautifully decorated float, laden with fresh fruits and vegetables. The king and queen were radiant with health and happiness and were perfect specimens of correct living habits. Joining in the parade with their respective banners, were the Girl Reserves, the Cub Scouts, and all health agencies of the county—the Recreation, Nutrition, Home Aid Departments and the American Legion.

While the band displayed its musical and marching ability, the Girl Reserves launched the annual tag-day sale, the proceeds of which go toward promoting child health in the county.

Edcker Glynn Abel, a student of Southwestern Louisiana Institute, was selected from the University as one of the outstanding students in America. This selection was made by an unprejudiced committee from the respective Universities and his biography appeared in an Annual Publication in which over 475 Universities and Colleges were represented.

Forestry Program Meeting In Grenada Saturday, May 28

Colonel Will Hoffa Will Be Chairman Of The Meeting To Be Held At Noon

A forestry program designed to assist Mississippi in her bid for location in the State of some of the new paper mills and other wood-using industries in which is being invested a total of $85,000,000 in the South, will be presented to interested citizens at a meeting in Grenada tomorrow, Saturday, May 28, at 12 noon.

The plan will be presented by A. G. T. Moore, director of conservation with the Southern Pine Association, who was loaned to Mississippi to direct reorganization of the Mississippi Forestry Association, according to advices received here from F. A. Anderson, Gloster lumberman and chairman of the association's reorganization committee.

Col. Will Hoffa will be chairman of the meeting.

The move was characterized by Mr. Anderson as the "third point in a three-point program to bring about cooperation of wood-using industries, the government, both Federal and State, and the lay citizenry."

Declaring that "the paper industry is now investing in the South, in plants recently completed, under construction or contemplated, a total of $85,000,000, the Gloster lumberman said that "Mississippi is the logical location for many of these new plants."

"Under Governor Hugh White's industrial program, which offers full cooperation of the state government and provides a distinct advantage in competition for new industries," he asserted, "Mississippi has an opportunity to obtain some of these new paper mills to be established in the South, provided proper forestry practices may be extended throughout the entire state."

The reorganization program has the endorsement of the joint Legislative Forestry Committee, headed by Lieutenant Governor J. B. Snider, who hopes extension throughout the entire state of forest fire protection under the State Forest Service, now confined through limitation of county cooperation to 16 counties, will result.

The Legislative Committee is drafting recommendations for presentation to a special session which Governor White has said he would call to convene during late June. Members include Snider, House Speaker Fielding L. Wright, Rolling Fork; Senator Frank B. Pittman, Picayune; Senator Neal Pritchett, Louisville; Representative Calvin Dees, Wiggins; and Representative Van Little, Mize.

The State Planning Commission is conducting a WPA-financed survey of the state to determine total acreage in forests, forest types, total acreage not in production which should or could be utilized in timber production, tax problems and other information which may be useful in formulation of a state-wide forestry program. The survey is in charge of Thomas J. Reed of Natchez, who operates under the direction of a ten-member consultants' committee, including Captain I. F. Eldredge, Regional Survey Director, Southern Forest Experiment Station, New Orleans; Fred B. Merriam, New Orleans; and Representative Van Little, Mize. (Please turn to page 8)

MISSISSIPPI FARM NEWS

(By F. J. Hurst)

Nature may join the AAA in restricting the 1938 cotton crop. The crop is two to three weeks late. Many farmers report poor stands. Some growers have replanted the third time. Poor seed, dry weather, and cold nights, have struck a triple blow at the farmers' main cash crop. However, the prospect is improving. Rains fell throughout most sections of the state during the past week, the weather turned hot and the delayed crop is now getting off to a good start.

With acreage limited and both production and price of cotton uncertain, thoughtful farmers are preparing to grow plenty of food and feed for home needs and to conserve cash income from cotton. The prospect is for a record acreage in summer legumes. Since each farm is given a soil-depleting acreage allotment under the AAA program and the producer will be penalized if he exceeds his depleting acreage, most farmers are planting cowpeas and soybeans to conserve the soil, to produce feed, and to qualify for full payment under the farm program.

During the past week Mississippi farmers side-dressed thousands of acres of corn with nitrogen fertilizers. Most Mississippi soils are deficient in nitrogen. Corn uses large quantities of this plant food element. The use of around 100 pounds of nitrate of soda or its equivalent as a side dressing when corn is about knee high is an economical means of increasing yields.

Liberal fertilization of sweet potatoes pays. The Mississippi Experiment Station recommends the application of 800 to 1000 pounds of 6-8-4 or 6-8-8 fertilizer per acre in hill counties. In the Delta, 32 to 64 pounds of nitrogen. In upland valley, 500 to 600 pounds of 4-8-8. If the potatoes are planted on land where a winter legume has been turned under, less nitrogen will be needed.

Nutritional studies show that lack of iron is the most outstanding deficiency in the diets of southern farm families, according to Miss Olive Sheets of the Mississippi Experiment Station. This is particularly true, she says, during certain seasons of the year when foods high in iron, such as fresh vegetables and eggs, are scarce and usually expensive.

Miss Sheets says insufficient iron in the diet leads to nutritional anemia. The encouraging fact about this situation, according to Miss Sheets, is that any farm family which is able to have a good vegetable garden and eggs throughout the year need not suffer from lack of iron in the diet. The vegetables which are particularly good sources of iron are the green leafy

All America Joins In Cotton Tribute To Increase Usage

Outstanding National Commodity In Production, Manufacture, Transportation, Export, Sponsored By 50,000 Stores.

More than fifty thousand retail merchants located in almost every city and hamlet of the United States will glorify the South's major farm crop and one of the nation's leading assets during the period May 30, June 4, in the observance of National Cotton Week.

Inaugurated in 1931 when the full force of the depression was beginning to sweep over the country, National Cotton Week was primarily designed to quicken the course of commerce and to provide increased retail outlets for the greatest of all fibres, 14,000 stores participated in that early program. The fact that the number of participating stores has more than trebled evidences outstanding success from the viewpoint of the millions of people engaged in the production, transportation, processing, and distribution of cotton and cotton goods.

For the greater part of a hundred years America has led the world in cotton production, processing, manufacture, and distribution. Cotton in the "money crop" in seventeen of the forty-eight states, and the prosperity of the South has already been predicted upon cotton. Cotton transportation from producer to final consumer employs many thousands of men. The manufacture of cotton goods, employing 30 million active spindles in 1937, provides jobs for hundreds of thousands. Exports of cotton lead all other agricultural commodities and for a century have yielded an unending stream of foreign gold into the United States. Retail stores report that stocks of cotton goods constitute 40 percent of the total inventory. Altogether, vegetable and the legumes: cowpeas, butterbeans, soybeans, and pinto beans.

Sorghum syrup, especially that evaporated on an iron pan, and molasses which is not too refined, have a high iron content. Sugar cane syrup evaporated on an iron pan is also a good source of iron.

it is reported that one out of every ten people in the United States is dependent for livelihood upon cotton.

"Of all the 'Weeks' which we commemorate, none is more nationwide in its significance than National Cotton Week," commented J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture. "In agricultural Mississippi there is the added significance that cotton is the chief money crop. To awaken the nation to consciousness of the supreme importance and the superior quality of cotton and cotton goods, so that cotton will be demanded for every practical use and purpose, will rapidly bring prosperity not only to Mississippi and the South, but throughout the United States."

Stray Dogs and Cats Public Enemy No. 1

Jackson, Miss., May 25—Stray dogs and cats, the Public Enemy No. 1 of quail during the laying period, are on the loose again.

Cooperation of owners and others interested in the protection of quail during the laying season by keeping stray dogs and cats penned up is requested by Col. Edgar

W. Wright, State Game and Fish Commissioner of Centerville.

"Stray dogs are recognized by the Biological Survey as the most deadly enemy of quail during this period of all," Col. Wright said. "They destroy the nests as well as the eggs."

"We are urging owners and others to keep dogs as well as cats penned up from now until September 1," he said. "These cooperative efforts will be more than doubly paid with the increase in the supply of quail."

Col. Wright said a ten year study of the quail situation in the South by the Biological Survey revealed that dogs do the most damage during the laying season. Other enemies include the cotton rat, chicken snake and crow.

SERVEL ELECTROLUX

PAYS FOR ITSELF IN ANY FARM HOME

Servel Electrolux pays for itself in what it saves. In ice bills. In car expense hauling ice. In leftovers. In spoilage. And because it has NOT ONE SINGLE MOVING PART to wear or cause trouble, these savings go on, year after year. And year after year, it protects your family's health.

Can any farm home afford to be without Servel Electrolux?

HERE'S WHAT YOUR NEIGHBORS SAY

MRS. ELMO O'ROURKE, Charleston, Mo. "I purchased a 30 cubic foot Servel Electrolux for my home in 1930; so gratifying was the service that in 1931 I purchased a second one. I keep several hundred pounds of meat in these refrigerators at all times, along with milk, eggs, etc. I have never had one penny's worth in spoil. The low cost of operation of my two Servel Electrolux refrigerators makes them a very profitable investment. I don't see how any farm home could be without one."

MRS. J. D. THORNTON, Darling, Miss. "We have had our Servel Electrolux 2 years. The cost of operation is so low we have been able to make our payments and buy the kerosene for just a trifle more than we were paying for fuel. We have frozen desserts in a few hours' time, and an abundance of ice cubes. We have cut our grocery bill considerably by using home products such as milk, butter, cream, fruits, eggs, and home butchered meats, which we could not keep on hand before. It has not given us one minute's trouble; it is so simple a child can tend it. It was a lucky day for us when we bought our Servel Electrolux!"

MRS. JERRY WHITE, Rhyolite, Ark. "My Servel Electrolux has given over 4 years of dependable, economical service. It is the greatest help a housewife can have. Food keeps indefinitely; we always have plenty of ice cubes, and it is just as efficient today as the day we bought it."

REV. L. D. SELLERS, Caswellton, Miss. "Like most large families in the country, we have to count the cost and see that nothing is wasted. That's why we like our Servel Electrolux. CONCRETE

Every street—business or residential—that has developed bumps, ruts or chuckholes, cries for repairing with concrete.

Don't let the old mistakes be made again. Concrete is smooth, safe and clean—and stays that way through decades of hard service.

Concrete actually costs less than any other pavement of equal load-bearing capacity—and costs far less for upkeep. It saves motorists money by reducing car operating expense. Its non-skid surface is safe to drive on night or day, wet or dry. Its cleanliness and attractive appearance improve property values.

Urge your public officials to use concrete when they pave "our" streets.

Railroads must operate even when business as a whole turns sharply downward.

Facilities necessary to handle considerable traffic must be maintained.

Otherwise there could be no recovery.

Through more than a century of alternating periods of depression and recovery, our railroads have continued to sustain our nation's business—to render faster, better, safer transportation.

That record has earned and deserved public confidence. Railroads can never be a burden, but rather a staff upon which the nation may lean.

The splendid vocational schools throughout the state are sufficient monuments to his great and noble work.

His broad vision of education showed him the great need for vocational training for the youth of our state, and his every thought and effort were directed toward better facilities for vocational education, as it correlated with the great school program of Mississippi. He held a life membership in the American Vocational Association which was presented to him by the Mississippi Vocational Association in recognition of his great worth to the National Vocational program.

His going has made a vacancy that will always be felt by his co-workers in education. The memory of his unassuming, genial, loyal character will always be cherished with love and honor.

Camp Rockbrook Drawing Interest

Plans are rapidly taking shape for Camp Rockbrook, near Macon, the 1938 site of the annual recreation camp conducted by Mississippi Girl Reserves. The first period will run from July 6-16 and the second, July 16-26.

Miss Mollie Heath Conn, Executive Secretary of the Mississippi District Y. W. C. A. and Camp Director, was the guest of the Macon Rotary Club on Tuesday and met with a hearty response from the Rotarians on the development of camp plans and interest manifested in the camp by Girl Reserves throughout the state.

Material for a new shack is on the grounds and work will begin at once on this and on a screened porch for the recreation lodge to serve as a dining room. The pier and lake are being improved and the tennis courts reworked.

Arrangements for improvement of the road to the camp are being made. The approach to the camp through the lovely rock bottomed brook promises to be one of the most attractive features of the camp site.

The natural beauty of the place is unsurpassed anywhere in the state and with the excellent equipment there and under the expert supervision of the experienced camp director of the Mississippi District Y. W. C. A., the girls of the state are eagerly looking forward to a period of wholesome fun and recreation.

The fee for each of the ten day periods is $12.00, including registration and board. The $2.00 registration fee should be sent direct to the Mississippi District Y. W. C. A., 213 Millsaps Building, before July 1. Since the capacity of the camp is limited, registrations will be accepted in the order in which they reach the office.

TAKE THIS LITTLE BUNCH OF ROSES

Take this little bunch of roses That you gave me long ago. Many times I've kissed them darling, But these I'll never kiss any more. Now you've gone and left me darling, Left me sad and lonely too. Often times I am sad and lonely, Often times I think of you. Many times we strolled together When the birds had gone to rest, Won't you come back little darling Back to the one that loves you best?

Grenada County Women's Project

On Friday, June 10, a reception will be held at the Community House from 3 to 6 o'clock by the members of the WPA. An exhibit of the work done by each project will be on display for your inspection. State WPA Directors from Jackson will be present and it is hoped that the people of Grenada will turn out to welcome them and show them how much the work is appreciated in this county.

Correction

In last week's issue of The Sentinel we carried an article, "What My Club Work Means To Me", and another, "What Home Demonstration Club Work Means To Me" and showed that they were written by Mrs. Sam Gillon and Mrs. Irving Gray, respectively. We should have credited Mrs. Gray with the first item and Mrs. Gillon with the latter. Mrs. Gray's article won first place.

LEAVING GRENADA HIGH SCHOOL

Through all the past years we have with eagerness and anticipation looked forward to the time of graduation. Now the time has come when we look back on our years spent here, our eyes brighten and our lips begin to curve into a smile because we have been happy here. We have formed new friendships; we have developed from awkward, fidgety children into young men and women; we have grown to love the school, the teachers and our schoolmates; we have had our pleasures and our disappointments; and along with all this we have grown in knowledge. We have learned to appreciate the finer, better things of life. Now as the time has come for us to leave we begin to wonder whether this is what we have been looking forward to with great eagerness. Our foot-steps are slower and we hesitate as we stand just outside the door to a life we are about to enter into. It will be a new life of which we know nothing, and we are reluctant to depart from this school which has added its portion of happiness and joy to our life. Though, we falter we know that we must go on. We have spent our allotted time here and we have profited from it. Now we must go on to new teachers and new experiences. With the memory of Grenada High School ever in our hearts we will strive to do the things that will make Grenada High School proud of us—just as proud to have had us as students of it as we are proud to have been students of Grenada High School. Though we may separate, though some of us may go to the ends of the earth, though some of us may never do the great things of life, though this class, the Senior Class of 1938, may never be collected together again, each of us will forever hold in his heart the joyful and tender memories of our own Grenada High School.

Class Poem:
With buoyant step and happy heart
We've journeyed through our high school days,
But now the time has come to part
And go, alone, our separate ways.
Beyond the portals of high school life
Waits much of laughter and tears,
Out in the world of care and strife
Are many hardships, many fears.
Whatever our future holds in
Of sadness or of pleasure,
Golden memories of yore,
Of high school life we'll treasure.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

The chapel for this week was very interesting. During the first part of the time given to chapel, the usual routine was followed. This included songs, scripture, and a short talk by Mr. Rundle on "WHAT SHALL I DO?" referring, of course, to the courses taken by young people when responsibility is placed upon them.

During the last twenty minutes of chapel Captain Webb, a safety engineer and a member of the national safety council, talked to the student body about the great importance of practicing safety. Captain Webb has been in this line of work for nine years and, therefore, is experienced.

He took Mr. Rundle's topic and discussed it from the viewpoint of safety. What shall we do when we see danger approaching—shall we keep our heads or just take the consequences?

He also brought out the fact that the signals that should be used when driving an automobile are very essential to the lives of the pedestrians, drivers and passengers. If we expect to decrease our accidents, these signals must be used by every driver. These important signals are:

1. The left hand pointing skyward for a right turn.
2. The left arm in a horizontal position for a left turn.
3. The left hand pointing toward the ground to make a complete stop.

Captain Webb, who is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will remain in Grenada for ten days, and he hopes to impress upon the people of the town through radio talks, press articles, and personal contacts the importance of safety.

In closing his talk Captain Webb offered a prize of five dollars for the best essay on "What Shall I Do To Make Grenada Safe?" This contest is open to all members of G. H. S. and it is hoped that the students will take an interest in it. The pupils enjoyed Captain Webb's talk very much and hope he will be back with us again.

In addition to the program, letters were presented to members of the boys and girls basketball teams and track team. Those receiving basketball letters were: Boys—Jack Vance, Robert Murphy, Paul Lockett, Claude Parks, Shep Warner, Ernest Penn, Cecil Hendricks, C. C. Hamby, Billy Sanders, Fred Fields.
Girls—Frances Thomas, Juanita Smith, Thelma Thompson, Josephine Payne, Bill Lamar, Minnie Frances Goodwin, Jewel Rounsaville.

Those receiving letters for track were:

Girls—Frances Thomas, Minnie Frances Goodwin, Camilla Smith, Jewel Rounsaville, Aileen Alldread. Those to receive baseball letters are:

SENIORS EXPRESS AP. PRECIATION TO SPONSOR

Toward our beloved sponsor the seniors feel a deep gratitude for her unselfish contribution to the year's work. Because of her leadership and encouragement we are able now to leave the high school with a sense of pride born of achievement. She has encouraged our initiative, ironed out our difficulties, made our attempts successful, and has done it all quietly and unassuming. Not one time throughout the year has she failed to be ever persistent toward a definite goal of achievement. And not one time in that stride has she been anything but just, lovable and wise.

Every senior will always hold in his heart a warm spot of affection for Miss Turner and for the year she has made so profitable.

AN IDLE PERSON

Don't ya' feel sorry for E. L. she's just sitting and gazing at Gene? Jamah and Ouida have found a new way to spell cupboard—cubboard. Even these Seniors don't know it all... Frank Tims was seen at church with Susie-pie. Wonder where Paul was? ... Melba and Ernest... ain't it awful? ... Clyde "Hen-pecked" Horn is still that way about a certain Senior... Yes, you guessed it... she doesn't talk very much... Don't you wish Cora would take you riding in her new car? ... Ah, but there's only room for Frederick... Ain't we gonna miss this school next year... Couldn't I go for a piece of gum, tho' while I'm supposed to be studying this English... What I want to know is how they can afford to call Lum beautiful and tell the truth... maybe they don't... Vacation is just around the corner... Am I glad!... Fred Murray must love to "pris" down the aisles 'cause he's always doing it... Wee Willie ought to change his name to Seeger... 'eggy seems to have lost a few pounds lately... she's not worrying about Doc, I hope... Isn't that a cute locket Louise Woodall's wearing?... Charlie Williams... Dear Me... When I think of him, my heart jumps into my mouth... Gee! Have you seen the new annuals... you ought to take a peep and get an eyeful... Look what romance has done to Charlie Heath... Pal Nights do come in handy... Wah Ann could make up her mind... Sam "Fishface" Marascalso and Charlie "Know-it-All" Williams really make a pair called the Gowan Blues... Dynamite couldn't make Sleepy hurry... Wonder when Josephine Payne is gonna grow up... A miracle—Hortense keeping her mouth closed for ten minutes... Does Carrie really like our only four-letter man... Oh, there's the hell!

Soon a Marshall came walking along and with this Frank question greeted the man, "How would you like a Tantrip through Spain?" The man answered, "It would be a Bonnie trip traveling with a Taylor who could use a Horn and Penn as well as a needle. With this, the Marshall picked some Mullin from the ground Ann went his way. APPRECIATION TO PUBLIC

The Senior Class of 1938 expresses to the public sincere appreciation of the generous loyalty to the class throughout this scholastic year. Without the loyalty of the public the Senior play could not have been a success; without the loyalty of the business men of Grenada the staff could not have published an attractive annual as it has. In other countless ways the public has stood by and aided the class to make the senior year a success. The seniors deeply and genuinely appreciate the loyalty. The memorial which will be left to Grenada High School is one that will add to the efficiency of the school system, but

CLASS HISTORY

In September of the year nineteen hundred and twenty-six, one hundred and nineteen smiling young lads and lasses entered the first grade of the Grenada Schools. A big day in their lives—they had finally started to school. During their first few years they were taught to read and write and to work with figures. As the class progressed the lessons became harder and longer; all the enjoyment of school seemed to fade and each boy and girl longed for the "good ole vacation time." Yet they could hardly wait till they reached Junior High where they pass to classes by the ringing of bells. When they entered the seventh grade, they were proud and thrilled; but after a while the newness wore off; each became accustomed to period classes; they again began to work and after two years of hard work they completed the eighth grade. Now the class was really beginning to feel its importance. This was another big day in the lives of these cherubs—the day when they completed their grammar school course and would graduate to High School.

When they began to go to high school these once important boys and girls lost some of their pride when they became confused by the number of class rooms and the bells. They were entitled "Green Freshmen" and they certainly proved worthy of their name. For their class officers they elected Fred Murray, President; Ethel Nichols, Vice President; E. L. Boteler, Secretary-Treasurer; Lucetia Davis, Sponsor. After they became accustomed to the High School work they became merry, chattering busy-bodies or possibly idle bodies.

Another year was completed and they were now classed as "Silly Sophomores." Again the class felt its importance as they were able to snob the green freshmen just entering high school. The officers of the Sophomore class were, Shep Warner, President; Fred Thelma, Vice President; Kathryn Jones, Secretary-Treasurer; Jessie Cannon, Sponsor. The work became harder and the teachers sterner but somehow they completed another year's work.

The next year this class was called Juniors and they began to receive a bit of recognition and were given preference over the under classmen for this year's work they elected as class officers: Bobby Sharp, President; E. L. Boteler, Vice President; Ethel Nichols, Secretary; Cora Mullen, Treasurer; Lucetia Owen, Sponsor. They worked hard under the leadership of their sponsor to obtain funds to entertain the Seniors. As the end of the year came closer they began to realize that next year they would be "Dignified Seniors." The class passed its exams and was promoted to the twelfth grade.

These fifty-five young ladies and gentlemen showed forth all their dignity and pride as they were now "Seniors." As they began this last hard struggle on the homeward stretch they elected E. L. Boteler to lead them to victory as their class president; Lawrence Allison as vice president and Ethel George Nichols as secretary-treasurer. This last and best year was filled not only with fun and excitement but also with seriousness and hard work. There was excitement when the class received their class rings; fun when they were entertained by the Juniors; hard work when the teachers made long assignments and seriousness when the thought of graduation entered their minds. Under the leadership, guidance and advisement of their self-denying sponsor, Miss Estelle Turner, the class published a school paper; produced their record breaking play, "Everybody's Crazy"; and for the first time in Grenada High School published a high school annual.

The graduating class now numbers fifty. Of these thirty are members of the first grade class of one hundred and nineteen. These thirty have worked side by side for twelve memorable years. The rest of the one hundred and nineteen moved away, dropped out or for other reasons are not in the class. But these thirty have been joined by others who have enriched only the generous support of the public made it possible for the class to add this equipment. To every one who has helped, the Class of '38 feels truly grateful.

ed and broadened the class. As this class of fifty prepares for further advancement let us keep in mind that although graduation days are happy days they are also sad days, for now the class will be divided, and must leave behind probably the happiest days of life. However, each shall carry with him the memories of one another, his teachers, and his school days. Thus far is written the history of the class of '38; from thence each member shall write his own.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF SENIOR CLASS OF 1938

The class of '38 has tried to set a worthy example in school spirit and progress. The sale of felt "bulldog" emblems was not solely for the purpose of adding to the senior treasury but also for the purpose of keeping before the public a symbol of the persevering spirit of the school. To give regular information about the school work, the class sponsored throughout the session a full page of school news published in the two county newspapers.

To promote the spirit of patriotism the class purchased and presented to the school a facsimile of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

Again proving themselves ambitious and progressive they published the school's first yearbook. Still looking for different and better programs the class planned for the class day exercises to be given in the late afternoon and on the campus. The graduation program emphasizing the desire for world peace was another effort for a different and vital program. The climax of the senior's efforts, to contribute to the progress of the school is their memorial gift—funds to provide for the school a speech relay system, whereby messages can be immediately transmitted from the superintendent's office to the different class rooms.

SENIOR CAST ENTERTAINED BY VONNETTE WILSON AND JAMAH PROVINE

On Tuesday night, April 8th, after dress rehearsal, the members of the Senior cast were invited to the home of Vonnette Wilson for an hour and a half of fun. The guests were served delicious congealed fruit salad, chicken salad and pimento cheese sandwiches, toasted pecans and Coca-Cola. After the refreshments a "descriptive" game was played. Each person was given a list of questions such as "To whom does this paper belong?" "What is the color of his hair?" "The initials of some person who was in the room was written at the top of the page. The object of the game was to answer the questions with words beginning with the person's initials. Vonnette Wilson and Jamah Provine were co-hostesses.

MR. RUNDLE ENTERTAINS CAST OF SENIOR PLAY

Mr. Rundle had promised the cast of the Senior play a sandwich if they would speak loud enough to be understood. One morning during the activity period the cast was called down to the cafeteria where they were served Mr. Rundle's "sandwich." Well, it wasn't a sandwich but it was equally as good. The cast thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Rundle's treat of ice cream and chocolate cake.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED

Wednesday night, May 25, the Senior Class was entertained at a delightful picture party given by Charles Williams.

GO - TO - CHURCH - SUNDAY

Come Worship With Us

Why Go To Church

Christianity is the most encouraging, the most joyous, the least repressive and the least forbidding of all the religions of mankind. There is no religion which throws off the burden of life so completely, which escapes so swiftly from sad moods, which gives so large a scope for the high spirits of the soul, and welcomes to its bosom with so warm an embrace those things of beauty which are a joy forever.

Philosophy is a hard and strange word to many, but all the same, every man—certainly every Christian—must have a philosophy. For in plain words, a philosophy is only the way we explain life and the world to ourselves.

Few men can invent a philosophy for themselves. If they do it is likely to be a thing of shreds and patches, of likes and dislikes, rather than the whole truth. The church has a philosophy of God and man. We learn it from Holy Scripture. Christian philosophy rests back not upon the guesses of science, but upon God, who made himself known through His Word—through His Son who is God and knows what is in man; through His apostles and His witnessing Church.

Christian ministers as a whole today are trying by means of the pulpit Sunday by Sunday to give to the world a Christian philosophy knowing that only this can make sense out of seeming confusion and can guide both a person and the Church through the maze of the world.

Charles S. Lile, Rector.

Why Go To Church

Why go to the dinner table? Why go to school? Why go to our father's birthday celebration? These questions answer themselves.

es. For similar reasons we should go to church—to be fed on the bread of life, to be instructed in the word of God, to do God honor, worship Him. The degree of our soul hunger, of our ignorance of the word of God, and the worthiness of God to be worshipped is the measure of our obligation to go to church. The first two reasons are selfish. Let us think of the third, God's worthiness to be worshipped. The only true and living God. The uncaused, self-existing, Eternal One. The Creator of all true and living things and the sustainer of all things. The all-powerful, the all-knowing, all-holy and righteous One. God is our Love and Savior. "Herein is love—not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins". Why go to church? To be fed, and to be instructed for these everyone has an ever present pressing need. But first of all and above all we should go to church to worship God, our Creator and Savior. No one who has the opportunity is exempt from this responsibility, and no one is denied this privilege.

REV. E. R. HENDERSON,
Pastor Central Baptist Church

Why Go To Church

There are several good reasons why people should go to church. First, the person who does not know Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior should go to church to find Him. To be sure, one can find Christ anywhere, at any time. But Christ is more likely to be found where Christian people are. This is the primary reason for the existence of the church. If a church is not winning people to Christ, it should close up shop.

Also, people should go to church to worship God. There are reminders of the goodness of God on every hand, for those to see who will.

Of course, one cannot worship God acceptably until he has first become a child of God through faith in Christ Jesus. Therefore, the chief reason for worship is gratitude for salvation.

People should go to church also, to find peace. There is not a heart without its hurt or a home without its hush. Where can peace be found? Jesus alone can speak peace to the human heart. "My peace give I unto you," he said, "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." Let any turbulent soul go to church in the right frame of mind, and Christ will not turn such one away empty. "Come unto me, and I will give you rest," is his promise. Hence, we should go to church to hear what He has to say to our needy hearts.

GLEN ERIC WILEY,
Pastor 1st Baptist Church
Grenada, Miss.

Why Go To Church

1—Because it is a divinely ordained institution in every community for the deepening of the spiritual life of those who attend.
2—Because when I go to church I meet and am associated with the very best people in New Albany.
3—When I go to church I go to worship God, and to hear discussed by a man of God the word of God and its application to the very life of our day. I do not go to church to hear a discussion of the latest book on the market, or the latest magazine article, though sometime it may be helpful to me to have my attention called to such. I do not go to be instructed in my political duties, though sometimes I may need such instruction. I go to have my moral fiber strengthened, and my spiritual life quickened.

4—The church is the one institution, and the minister of the Gospel is the one person, in every community which has a right to claim existence, and who has a right to life only as these high and holy aims are met—to oppose everything that is wrong, and out of accord with God's word, and to champion everything that makes for truth and righteousness.

5—The church has a message and service for every man.

DR. A. J. RANSOM,
Pastor, New Albany
Presbyterian Church

Why Go To Church

The end and aim of life will never be complete without taking into consideration the spiritual side of our nature. In order that we may attain unto the best that is within us there has been set up and established throughout our land, as well as in others, the Church of the Living God. Thru this organization, and through it alone, one may find those elements that will enable him to attain life's goal. For the church has within itself, and its teachings, that which will enable man to come to his highest and best. Whatever there is of truth, beauty, nobility, integrity, reverence, higher loyalties, holy aspirations, deep consecration, genuine love, in the wide wide world it has been nurtured, as well as given to the world, by the church or one of its several agencies.

Then, without any equivocation, or reservation of any kind, I say that one ought to go to church. Not merely from gratitude, though we have much to be grateful for. Nor yet from a sense of loyalty or duty alone, even though this may be a high and worthy reason. But that I may sit for a while in a house that has been erected for the specific purpose of the worship of God; that I may there join with others my prayers for a better and holier life; that I may come under the sway and sweep of higher and better things than the world can give; that I may have fellowship with the Eternal; that I may hear Him speak to the depths of my soul; that I may come to know Him, whom to know aright is life eternal; that Jesus may be real to me; that I may find out how I may be like Him; that thru me others may find a better way of life; for these reasons I ought to go to Church.

Milne. An interesting program, arranged for the entertainment of the health royalties, was climaxed by the traditional May-pole dance.

Rosebloom News

The rain which fell here last week was greatly appreciated and has greatly helped gardens and crops.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Carpenter and grandson, Tandy, of Murphreesboro, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Lane and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bloodworth are the proud parents of a baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bloodworth and children, and Miss Louise Lane spent last week-end in Memphis.

Misses Elizabeth Bloodworth and Louise Lane entertained a large crowd of their young friends last Friday night with a wiener roast at the Dr. Coats pond in honor of their birthdays. Everyone had a wonderful time and left wishing for Misses Louise and Elizabeth many more happy birthdays.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Howard Mitchell is on the sick list this week. We hope she may soon be well again.

The whooping cough is in our community. Most all the children have it now.

We sympathize with the relatives of Mrs. Sam Coleman in her sad death which occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will Lacy Saturday night. Mrs. Coleman lived here for many years and had many friends who will mourn her death.

Miss Louise Lane will leave Sunday for Senatobia, where she will attend summer school.

Plumbe and berries are getting ripe fast here. Jim Brown was the first to have a ripe peach.

The fruit crop here seems to be much better than last year.

Messrs. Claude and Perry Lane are back on the road, they having employed day labor in their crops.

Summer Term At Senatobia

President R. C. Pugh announces the summer school to be held at the Tate County Agricultural High School and Northwest Mississippi Junior College, beginning May 30 and ending July 2.

It offers opportunities for students to do the following: To shorten their high school or college course by studying during vacation; to make up deficiencies; to validate work done in non-accredited schools and to allow a teacher to renew license on credit work. Instructions will be offered in all college and high school subjects for which there is sufficient demand.

The maximum credit allowed for the regular summer session will be one unit in high school or 3 semester hours in college. Competent faculty members will provide the instruction.

Any commercial subject for which there is sufficient demand will be offered. A review course in shorthand and typing will be available to students who are preparing for examinations in secretarial work.
